
All policies share initial states and disturbances within each seed. Noiseless decay can make full-episode averages misleading.